

Drawing and Holding Lines For Married Couples

MDNM"NL": _____
MARRIED DOES NOT MEAN "NO LINES"

"S"sNaL. _____
"Sex" is NOT a Line

"S"iaCoB: _____
"Sex" is a Category of Behavior

When you are married, it is not "anything goes." There are many issues to be discussed and explored that ought to be done in the Courting Phase of a relationship. Since few of us do that... You need to find a safe opportunity later... but as soon as you can develop a safe opportunity. In this case...

TMCSO: _____ . That will usually be the woman.
The Most Conservative Should Offer.

MLSBWJ: _____
Married Lines Should Be Explored Without Judging.

Something that happens from time to time is that the woman judges the man's desires as "perverted," "sick," or evidence of being a "sex addict." From time to time, the man judges the woman as being a "prude," "frigid," or any other terms he might use to judge her different sexuality.

Almost All Married Couples Should Have Reasonable Lines for:

Frequency: 2-4 times a week normal.

Less only be if neither desires it more than that or specific times – period, illness, injury, pregnancy, guests, guests in the house, being guests in another's house, lack of privacy, etc..

More only be if BOTH have a sex drive above that or special times – Vacations, Honeymoons, Unusual Times of Prolonged Privacy, etc.

GENERAL RULE: TAIAYUTIAGRfItbN,EDNC: _____

The Answer is Always Yes Unless There is a Good Reason for It to be No, Emotions Do NOT Count

This should be within the agreed upon limits of The Lines.

Avoid rejection to avoid doing damage to the relationship.

A normal man takes sexual rejection very personally. It is not a rejection of an activity, it is a rejection of him as a Man.

After about 3 rejections, a normal man will stop asking, or stop caring about you.

Positions: Yes, there are plenty of positions.

For married couples having sex only with one another, there are no morally wrong positions.

Just because it is not morally wrong does not mean it may not be physically painful, nor does it mean that a partner is required to do it.

Miscellaneous Things: Oral Sex, Hygiene concerning sex, Places, Risks of Being Caught, Public Displays of Affection, Toys, Pornography, Circumstances, Foreplay, Afterplay, Afterglow, Role Play, Outfits, sex during her period, sleepwear alone, sleepwear when others are around (kids, family, guests), talking about sex, talking about sex with others (and, if allowed what truths can be shared with whom), Vocabulary regarding sex, Whatever other intimate things might need to be covered...

Off Limits: Threesomes, Anal Sex (unless both want to try it), Swinging or Swapping, Watching or Being Watched, Anything painful.

Note for Men: A Woman's Sex Drive is boosted with generous Romance, generous Intimacy, and generous meeting of her needs and fulfillment of her values.
